CLASS HISTORY

One bright, sunshiny, September morning in the year of nineteen hundred forty-four, forty Freshmen assembled in their classroom with Mrs. R. E. Moore, their homeroom teacher. Our other teachers were Mr. Davis, principal; Mrs. Quigley, Miss Huddle, and Miss Hudson.

During this first year of high school several of the boys and girls went out for baseball and softball. Our first party was the Halloween party given by the high school. We didn't elect class officers that year but Lucille Fitzgerald was appointed to take care of any business that came up. Our class was very sorry to lose one of its boys, Benny Bulis, who lost his life June 27, 1945, near Cave Mountain Lake, while working for G. D. Smith.

We entered our Sophomore year with an enrollment of twenty-three. Our homeroom teacher was Mr. Jennings. Added to the faculty were: Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Vaughn, and Miss Buchanan. Mr. Davis remained our principal. Class officers chosen were: president, Betty Spence; vice-president, Paul Bryant; and secretary and treasurer, Lucille Fitzgerald. We were proud to have one boy and four girls make the basketball team. We attended the usual parties given by the high school. This year the "Telletorium" staff was organized, the Sophomore class being well represented. We were given a party by the high school for selling the most subscriptions to the "Telletorium."

In our Junior year the enrollment fell to twenty-one. The teachers added to the faculty were: Miss Gardner, Miss Page, and Miss Sale, the latter being our homeroom teacher. We chose Billie Ogden as our class president; Christine Hensley, vice president; and Lucille Fitzgerald, secretary and treasurer. Our class flower was a rose; class colors: red and white; and our motto—"Sail on the Lake of Ambition, Land on the Shores of Success." This year the majority of the class joined one or more of the newly organized clubs. As usual several boys and girls were on the basketball, baseball and softball teams. Several were awarded letters for being outstanding players. We were very thrilled when a representative from Jostens arrived for us to choose our class rings. After waiting anxiously for several months they arrived. Under the leadership of Miss Sale we gave a Halloween party for the high school. We also presented a play "Aunt Cindy Cleans Up." The most important social event was the banquet and dance which was sponsored for the Seniors. Our Junior year came to a close with a picnic at Timber Lake.

After three years of work, study, and play we were at last "dignified" seniors. Mrs. Wilson was our homeroom teacher. We welcomed Mr. Bird as our new principal. New teachers were Mrs. Roberts, later replaced by Mrs. Norman, and Miss Harris. Class officers were: Lucille Fitzgerald, president; Thomas Turpin, vice-president; Edith Williams, secretary; Paul Bryant, secretary-treasurer; and Betty Spence, reporter. We ordered our invitations, personal cards, and announcements from Balfour. This year we were well represented having four boys and six girls on the basketball team. The Home Ec. girls sponsored a semi-formal dance in the gym. Invitations were extended to the high school and faculty.

We enjoyed the banquet which the Juniors gave us. On March 24, 1948, we sponsored a movie "Courageous Mr. Penn." One of the most important social events was the wedding of Lucille Fitzgerald to Garland Humphreys on December 23, 1947. A long happy married life to you Lucille. At last we had reached our goal—Commencement Night. We were all very nervous but sorry to realize that our high school life must end.

We wish to leave our thanks and deepest appreciation to our principals and teachers, who have worked with us in obtaining our goal.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was in the year 1954, while flying around in my space ship; from force of habit my eyes began to wander about me and automatically fell on the '48 Islander laying on the seat next to mine. Picking up the Islander my mind began to drift into a world of thought, wondering what my classmates of '48 were doing.

I turned on my time machine which was television and wasn't long before a picture began to form.

The new DeLuxe Theatre of Big Island began to form before my eyes. Why, my goodness, what does the billing in front say . . . ? Now it's getting clearer. Thomas Turpin in his first movie performance and it is a smash hit. But who's his lucious leading lady? Not Lana Turner, nor Rita Hayworth but none other than Sarah Reynolds. She's known to her fans as Lillian Lilly. Sarah, who was planning on becoming a modern housewife shortly after graduation, layed the whole matter aside to continue her famed career.

As the scene began to change, I noticed another one was rapidly forming. And who have we here . . . ? Paul Bryant, of all people. But the scenery is still the same. It's Paul's home. Paul looks the same, but he seems to be troubled. Now I understand. He's still wondering what he wants to do, take a business course or go to college in Lynchburg.

Well, what's the confusion on the street? An election campaign is being held in Big Island and Evine King is sitting on an orange crate runnig for mayor.

By the way, Ann Ballowe and Wayne Wright were married shortly after graduation day for Ann, and now there is a little Wright clinging to the Mrs. apron strings.

Now I find myself looking upon a baseball field and who is that all the people are cheering for? Now I see, C. R. Oliver who has gone a long way in the athletic field.

Again the scene changes and I see fans swarming around Joyce Cook. No wonder for that! Joyce has become a world famous model for Listerine toothpaste and is modeling her gorgeous set of pearls.

Now the scene changes to New York where Jean Martin, who was our class style leader, is now living and leading the latest fashions with the "Second Look." Jean is walking up Fifth Ave., when a car drives up and her handsome husband steps out to greet her. They were acquainted at Walter Reed Hospital where Jean was a nurse. Cupid turned the table for her and after a short romance they were married.

Now the scene changes from busy New York to the industrious growing Big Island.

I find myself in the office of the Modern National Container Corp., where Garland Humphreys is superintendent. A family portrait is the main item on his desk. The smiling face I immediately recognized was Lucille, but something new has been added. My curiosity was soon subdued when I heard Garland proudly boasting to a salesman that Garland, Junior, had pronounced his first word, this morning, "Papa." A long planned dream for the Humphreys has come true as they now have a beautiful home of their own.

As I leave the mill, I find myself flying swiftly through space at 2,000 miles per hour. As I gaze once more into my television machine I see whirling grass skirts, beautiful girls, Hawaiian music and Harold Garret and Odell Swain. Oh, but it can't be, but it is, fantastic, Harold with a mustache. Now I'm beginning to understand. School day dreams were to join the Navy, and make it a life time career. Now they are Admirals in the Navy and enjoying life with the greatest of ease. Being that, they both are still wolves, they prefer all the girls and have no specials.

Sput-sputter--suptter-sputter-(choke). Goodness! what can the matter be. It's my machine doing all the complaining. After fidgeting with all the dials and gadgets, I finally quieted it down, it had me worried but definitely for a spell. Once again I began to speed through space.

The picture now forms on the campus at the University of Virginia. Mr. Fletcher, head of the Virginia High School League, has just employed a new stenographer, who is none other than, Edith Mae Williams. One of Edith's high school ambitions has come true as she has now made it possible for the winning Girl's Basketball Teams, of all the districts in Virginia, to participate in regional and state tournaments. She is now wearing a stunning diamond ring and her plans are to return to Bedford in the near future.

Once again the picture fades and I find myself gazing upon the beautiful scenery of Bermuda. Honeymooning there are William Sanderson and his wife, the former Mary Parks. After taking an agriculture course at V.P.I., Billy returned to Big Island. With Mr. Vaughn officiating Mary and Bill were married. With rice in their hair and stars in their eyes they made ready for their Bermuda honeymoon.

"Well, I declare!" As I leaned over to close the emergency door, I heard a familiar voice singing "It's A Sin." But Amy Fifer and Hoover didn't think so. They are now married and living out west on a cattle ranch. Saturday night get togethers are the week's highlights. Neighbors for miles around enjoy coming to hear Hoover's throaty voice and devour Amy's delicious pastries. Am I dreaming? Two little tots, miniature pictures of Amy and Hoover, are the couple's delight. My, but it must be nice to have twins.

New scenery forms and I find myself in one of Lynchburg's largest department stores. Here I find Christine Hensley and Sara Cheatham, all time school chums, now the owners of this exclusive salon. As Christine and Sara have shared so much of their life together, they are expecting very soon to have a magnificent double wedding.

Rapidly changing the scenery again, I find myself gazing upon Ecele' De Jeunne Femmes (school for young ladies) where Billie Ann Ogden is now Dean. After graduation from Flora-McDonald College, Billie toured the world, but decided to stay in Paris and teach English. Although there are many handsome Frenchmen in Paris, Billie Ann, is very fickle, and can't make up her mind which one she prefers most.

I was interrupted from my television machine when another space ship zoomed past. Well, of all people, Ryan Fifer, and in uniform. Having finished school, Ryan went to work at the National Container Corp., at Big Island, but wasn't satisfied as he had the urge to travel. Thus he quit work and joined the Air Force where he is now General Fifer and a very distinguished general that is!

Once again I look into my machine and I find myself gazing upon the Capitol in Washington. Senator Russell Waugh has just proposed a bill that no woman could have more than one husband but that the men could have as many wives as they chose. From the cheers of the other Senators, I knew that the bill would immediately be passed.

As I snap off my machine, I leaned back in my chair to relax. My love has just asked me to marry him and I have accepted. Now I feel that I have succeeded in life. That the reason for having looked upon the lives of my classmates to see if they too, had succeeded.

My space ship once again begins to complain and I felt that I was going to crash. I awoke to find myself lying on the floor and only a short time to get dressed for school.

Who knows? Maybe my dream will become a reality!

MEMORIES

Prepared to face the future bright are twenty Seniors gay
All dressed up in caps and gowns
 and ready for Commencement Day.

As slowly we march down the aisle
 before the congregation
I see a vision of four long years preceding graduation.

First a flash of Freshmen days
 passes before my eyes
Citizenship, Science, English and Math and a lot of noisy guys.

As Sophomores, we enjoyed sports
 the parties, we adored
And we loved the jokes Mr. Davis told whenever we got bored.

Next I see the jolly Juniors
 preparing a banquet gay
I see them at the newspaper convention and presenting the Junior class play.

We sang in the High School Glee Club
 we played many games of baseball
But the picnic we gave at Timber lake was the happiest day of them all.

Then suddenly—we were Seniors
 a long awaited dream had come true
There we were selecting announcements and cards and ordering caps and gowns too.

But in all four years of High School of all the things we've done
Our most enthusiastic hours were spent at the three basketball tournaments won.

A chapter in our lives is now closing a new world comes into our sight
So we bid a farewell to our teachers and friends who have helped make our schooldays so bright.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the '48 Senior Class of M. E. Marcuse High School being mentally unbalanced from so much studying, do make and publish this our last will and testament.

To the Freshman Class we leave more social life at Marcuse.

To the Sophomore Class we will the key to the trophy case.

To the Junior Class we leave our many privileges, providing they won't misuse them.

To Mr. Bird we leave our kindest regards for his calm endurance with us.

To Mrs. Wilson who has so willingly stood by us in our Senior year, we leave our deepest gratitude.

To Miss Harris we leave a home in Big Island so she can attend all the social activities at Marcuse.

To Mrs. Oliver we leave a more cooperative Junior Class.

To Mr. Callahan we leave more cooperative shop classes.

Tommy Turpin wishes to leave his witty ways to Lewis Mitchell.

Betty Spence leaves to Wayne Rhodes her ability to jitterbug.

Billy Sanderson leaves his good looks to Douglas Parks.

Ann Ballowe wills her petite figure to Daisy Goff.

Paul Bryant leaves to James Tomlin his willingness to show movies.

Sarah Reynolds leaves her quietness in class to Leo Rice.

Odell Swain leaves to Smiley Tomlinson his jealousy over Rachel Arrington.

Edith Williams wills her position as captain of basketball team to Mae Inge.

C. R. Oliver leaves his athletic abilities to Jack DeWitt.

Joyce Cook wills her noisy ways to Margaret Addison.

Evine King leaves his dark hair to Calvin Goff.

Jean Martin wills her "natural curls" to Jean Snead.

Harold Garrett leaves his geometry book to Russell Markham.

Christeen Hensley leaves her studiousness to Joyce Wright.

Russell Waugh leaves his position at the National Container to Essex Burks.

Sarah Cheatham wills her sewing ability to Nannie Burks.

Ryan Fifer wills his height to Charles McNeely.

Amy Fifer leaves her keen sense of humor to Doris Manley.

Billy Ann Ogden wills her heart to John Penn Oliver.

To the Junior Class I will a successful Senior year.
